Meditation & Swami Kripalu Stories | 1-5pm | Muktidham | $25 suggested donation

Chandrakant John Hiester is a preacher's son, a Vietnam era veteran and a graduate of Rutgers University. He has distilled more than three decades of practice and study with Gurudev, Amrit Desai into simple, engaging teachings designed to help you enter the next level of your practice. In 2008, Gurudev bestowed upon Chandrakant the title of Yogacharya, preceptor of Yoga. This is the same title Babuji bestowed on Gurudev in 1972.

Potluck 5-6:30pm | Reihman Farm

Kirtan 7pm-9pm | Reihman Farm | $25 suggested donation with Mark Kelso and Arti Ross Kelso

Mark Kelso, also known as Hansaraj, has been doing kirtan for over 40 years. Having met Amrit Desai at the age of 16, and Swami Kripalu at the age of 19, his musical life was altered by the chanting of the divine name. He studied Indian music while at the Oberlin Conservatory with Nada Yoga master Roop Verma, himself a one-time student of Swami Kripalu, as well as a friend of Amrit's. In addition to his solo piano CDs (on the Narada/Virgin/EMI and Muddy Angel labels), Mark has recorded over 10 CDs of Sanskrit chanting. He has chanted with Ram Dass, Krishna Das, Durga Das and even with Haagen Dazs.

Arti Ross Kelso combines her deep love of yoga with a degree in music. A graduate of Kripalu's School of Ayurveda and of One Spirit, an inter-spiritual seminary, Arti is a lifelong student of transformation. With Mark she has toured throughout the United States teaching and performing.

Since Swami Kripalu, Babuji left Muktidham in 1981, it has been preserved and maintained as a sacred pilgrimage place by Kripalvananda Yoga Institute, Inc. (KYI), a non-profit corporation. Through Muktidham we can experience Babuji's special blessings and connect with his subtle loving presence. Muktidham is a place for gatherings, chanting, satsang, meditation, and other devotional practices. Muktidham is the spiritual home of the Kripalu neage and all are welcome to come in celebration of love and peace.

KYI will use donations to support and maintain Muktidham.
Love & Gratitude to the Amrit Yoga Institute for generous corporate sponsorship.
